

AthTek DigiBand is Going to Launch a New Version in July 2013

We are going to release a new version of AthTek DigiBand which will include some new features. The new version will be available at the beginning of July. If you are looking for an intelligent music software which can automatically compose music without any deliberateness, AthTek DigiBand would be a nice choice for you.

AthTek DigiBand is an intelligent music software which can automatically compose music or improvise an accompaniment to solo singing. I think it would be a great tool for music education or making fun of music. To professional composers, it isn't a serious music composition tool but maybe it will help in finding inspirations. If you are interested in music composition but have quit limited knowledge of music, I will recommend you to download free trial of AthTek DigiBand for a try. Maybe it is just the music composition software for you.